Race Man:

Race Man Barry C. Davis, 2014-10-11 Race A four letter word unlike any other A live wire the third rail the thing your momma told you to be afraid of the creature that goes bump in the night This ambitious hard hitting anthology takes on race relations in America past and present It holds back nothing and no race is spared its fire These tales at times poignant thought provoking violent heart breaking and humorous touch the soul of America a soul wounded from the constant struggle across the racial divide Barry C Davis has created a literary mirror and invites you to see yourself Are you brave enough to do so Will you like what you see

Crime and Racial Constructions Jeanette Covington, 2010-04-12 Crime and Racial Constructions Cultural Misinformation about African Americans in Media and Academia focuses on how film images of dangerous hedonistic blacks have assumed greater significance since blacks protested racial injustice during the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement of the 1960s and 1970s It does so by reviewing a number of films that have been released from the 1970s until the present in which black males are depicted as violent and threatening It likewise considers how these same films represent black females as prostitutes drug addicts and irresponsible abusive mothers who spawn violence in their children Because these on screen images of a violent apolitical and immoral black underclass find their way into the criminological literature the book also takes a look at how criminologists use these images to link crime to underclass culture Both Hollywood and criminologists alike manage to ignore how black activism during the 1960s social movements actually sparked black opposition to the kind of black on black crime that is routinely depicted on screen By taking a critical look at these negative images Crime and Racial Constructions seeks to correct some of the distortions that arise from the undue academic and cinematic focus on black criminals at the expense of racially conscious blacks

Why Who Cleans Counts Shannon N Davis, Theodore N Greenstein, 2020-02-19 Every household has to perform housework and researchers know a lot about what predicts who does which chores drawing frequently from theoretical explanations that highlight the importance of power dynamics This book moves beyond the existing scholarship by using quantitative nationally representative survey data to theorize about how power dynamics as reflected in housework performance help us understand broader family variations The authors investigate how knowing who cleans the house explains how households of differing forms demographics and compositions operate both cross sectionally and over the life course of the household

Social Theory, Volume I Roberta Garner, Black Hawk Hancock, 2014-05-29 The third edition of this popular reader reflects considerable changes The framework for understanding theory as a set of conversations over time is maintained and deepened pairing classical with contemporary readings to illustrate the ways in which theory continues to be reinterpreted over time Volume I has been completely reorganized with new contextual and biographical materials surrounding the primary readings and end of chapter study guides that include key terms discussion questions and innovative classroom exercises The result is a fresh and expansive take on social theory that foregrounds a plurality of perspectives and reflects contemporary trends in the field while being an accessible and manageable teaching tool
