Racial Harabment Pb:

Discrimination as Stigma Iyiola Solanke, 2016-12-29 This monograph reconceptualises discrimination law as fundamentally concerned with stigma Using sociological and socio psychological theories of stigma the author presents an anti stigma principle promoting it as a method to determine the scope of legal protection from discrimination The anti stigma principle recognises the role of institutional and individual action in the perpetuation of discrimination Setting discrimination law within the field of public health it frames positive action and intersectional discrimination as the norm in this field of law rather than the exception In developing and applying this new theory for anti discrimination law the book draws upon case law from jurisdictions including the UK Australia New Zealand the USA and Canada as well as European law

Ainsworth, 2000 LONGMAN CRIMINOLOGY SERIES Series editor Tim Newburn In Psychology and Crime Myths and Reality Peter Ainsworth provides an accessible and intriguing introduction to some of the links between the fields of psychology and crime As such the book offers a number of psychological perspectives on criminal behaviour and the criminal justice process

The author challenges many of the misconceptions and misunderstandings surrounding criminal behaviour while at the same time providing valuable insights into the way in which psychology can help us to make sense of the criminal process. Among the questions addressed in the book are: How easy is it to measure the level of crime in society? Why are people's fears of crime often greater than their level of risk might justify? Why are some people victimized repeatedly while others suffer little crime? What are the psychological effects of victimization? Can psychology help to prevent crime? Are criminals born or made? What are the links between crime and mental illness? Can psychologists help the police to solve crime by providing offender profiles? Are the processes of jury decision making and judicial sentencing objective or subjective? How best can we prevent reoffending? How and why do mistakes occur in the criminal justice system? Undergraduate and postgraduate students in forensic, legal and applied psychology and those studying law and criminology will find this a useful introduction to the area. In addition, those working within the criminal justice system should find this non-technical guide extremely useful.
