Congresswoman Lowey Announces Retirement After 31 Years

By Jim Jackson

Congresswoman Nita Lowey on October 19 announced she will retire at the end of her current term and not seek reelection in 2020. The Democrat and House Appropriations Chairwoman will leave behind a legacy lasting more than three decades of representing the people of the Lower Hudson Valley in Washington.

"First of all, it's been my deep honor and privilege to serve the community and country in the United States Congress, and I will always be grateful to the people who have entrusted me to represent them—Westchester, Rockland County... and Queens and The Bronx in my former district, and I'm proud for all I've achieved working for the wonderful people in the Lower Hudson Valley," Congressman Lowey said to River Journal in an exclusive interview.

Her impending departure opens the door for a potentially contentious race for her replacement in New York's 17th Congressional District, which includes all of Rockland

Meanwhile, Representatives Rose DeLauro (Conn.) and Mary Kaper (Ohio) already announced they will run for Lowey's position as the top Democrat on the Appropriations Committee.

Born in the Bronx, the 82-year-old Lowey was first elected to Congress in 1988 and became the first woman to

And that passion was fueled by his biology teacher, Rene Nelson.

"I was fortunate to have her for freshman biology and then again AP biology in my junior year," said Semenza. "She was a real inspiration in that unlike many teachers she had a PhD and had done post-doctoral research training, so she had a real sense of what research was like. And when she presented material, she didn't just present it as dry facts but rather as a description of discoveries that were made by particular scientists and how those discoveries came about. She really brought the subject to life and showed the excitement involved in scientific discovery."

Semenza at SHHS and today

Upon graduation, Semenza went to Harvard where he majored in biology. That's where he became interested in genetics. "In my junior year I
