Netball Diary:

Take Three Girls K. J. McKenna, 2005-12 Take Three Girls is a school novel written by an English teacher in response to demands from his students that he should write them a decent story not like the ones in the library. It tells the tale of three girls and a boy beginning their upper school careers. They find new friendships and danger. Each chapter ends with the diary entries of the main characters revealing their personal thoughts on what happens to them and what they really think of each other.

#NETBALL Training Journal Netball Journals, 2019-05-18 Created around the idea that becoming your own coach and being brutally honest with yourself is the best way to improve your game, this netball journal is designed to help you improve faster than average. Designed to give you some structure to your practice as well as a great netball log to look back on.

The Fiction Gateway Suzanne Eberlé, Noelle Williamson, 2009 In this guide two experienced school librarians provide a selection of books for librarians, teachers, and parents. The Fiction Gateway is an essential resource that supports individual, group, and social reading programs and provides an instant guide to matching children's interests with suitable reading material.
