Creating a Transnational Space in the First Year Writing Classroom W. Ordeman, 2021-05-04 During the first twenty years of the new millennium many scholars turned their attention to translingualism an idea that focuses on the merging of language in distinct social and spatial contexts to serve unique mutually constitutive and temporal purposes This volume joins the more recent shift in pedagogical studies towards an altogether distinct phenomenon transnationalism By developing a framework for transnational pedagogical practice this volume demonstrates the exclusive opportunities afforded to freshmen writers who write in transnational spaces that act as points of fusion for several cultural lingual and national identities With reference to recent works on translingualism and transnationalism this volume is an attempt to conceptualize effective writing pedagogy in freshman writing courses which are becoming more and more transnational It also provides educators and first year writing administrators with practical pedagogical tools to help them use their transnational spaces as a means of achieving their desired learning outcomes as well as teaching students threshold concepts of composition studies This volume will be particularly useful for first year writing faculty at colleges and universities as well as writing program administrators to create a more effective curriculum that addresses these needs in classroom settings All scholars with a doctorate in Rhetoric and Composition English as a Second Language Translation Studies to name a few will also find this a valuable resource Re Visioning Composition Textbooks Xin Liu Gale, Fredric G. Gale, 1999-04-23 An exploration of the sometimes tenuous relationship between textbooks and the discipline of composition and rhetoric Re Visioning Composition Textbooks critically scrutinizes the culture of textbooks from the vantage point of scholars and teachers It examines a variety of textbooks including standard rhetorics handbooks cross cultural anthologies readers technical textbooks and argumentation textbooks Different perspectives are used to discuss the cultures ideologies traditions and the material and political conditions that influence the writing and publishing of these works Contributors raise challenging questions about the relationship between textbooks and the cultures which produce them the discipline of which they are an indispensable part and the classrooms in which they are to have their most tangible effects on teaching and learning Rhetoric for First Year Writing Pearson Custom Publishing, 2000-06-01 Writing Spaces: Readings on Writings, Vol. 1 Charles Lowe, Pavel Zemliansky, Volumes in Writing Spaces Readings on Writing offer multiple perspectives on a wide range of topics about writing much like the model made famous by Wendy Bishop's The Subject Is series In each chapter authors present their unique views insights and strategies for writing by addressing the undergraduate reader directly Drawing on their own experiences these teachers as writers invite students to join in the larger conversation about developing nearly every aspect of the craft of writing Consequently each essay functions as a standalone text that can easily complement other selected readings in writing or writing intensive courses across the disciplines at any level Writing Spaces 1 Charles Lowe,Pavel Zemliansky,2010-06-18 Volumes in Writing Spaces Readings on Writing offer multiple perspectives on a wide range of topics about writing much like the model made famous by Wendy Bishop s The Subject Is series In each chapter authors present their unique views insights and strategies for writing by addressing the undergraduate reader directly Drawing on their own experiences these teachers as writers invite students to join in the larger conversation about developing nearly every aspect of craft of writing Consequently each essay functions as a standalone text that can easily complement other selected readings in writing or writing intensive courses across the disciplines at any level Topics in Volume 1 of the series include academic writing how to interpret writing assignments motives for writing rhetorical analysis revision invention writing centers argumentation narrative reflective writing Wikipedia patchwriting collaboration and genres Fundamentals of First Year Writing and Rhetoric Studies April Ann Davis,2022 This pedagogical portfolio proposes a First Year Writing course that develops student writing through a Post process model This model offers students the academic setting to contemplate and write college essays by deepening the traditional essay writing patterns to include the study of writing as a function and as an extension of the self In this personal yet academic space students learn to access the role of the writer the role of the individual voice and prospective audiences In this model students will contemplate the writing process of the research essay to extend beyond the fixed product based thesis into a discourse of nonlinear collaborative process writing Students will learn to analyze writing styles through the class readings of both Magic Realism and Metafiction short stories as well as readings of secondary articles explicating those stories These readings help students identify writing techniques and help students practice collaborative reflection through writing tasks before committing to writing drafts This reflective approach also helps the class experiment with writing features used in close readings peer review and revisions Throughout each essay unit in the course students will learn to situate themselves into writing which then develops contextual knowledge to apply to writing Knowing Words University of Colorado Boulder. Program for Writing and Rhetoric,2009 Before Ideology Deanna Teel Overstreet,1998 Rhetorical Feminism and This Thing Called Hope Cheryl Glenn,2018-11-12 Rhetoric and feminism have yet to coalesce into a singular recognizable field In this book author Cheryl Glenn advances the feminist rhetorical project by introducing a new theory of rhetorical feminism Clarifying how feminist rhetorical practices have given rise to this innovative approach Rhetorical Feminism and This Thing Called Hope equips the field with tools for a more expansive and productive dialogue Glenn s rhetorical feminism offers an alternative to hegemonic rhetorical histories theories and practices articulated in Western culture This alternative theory engages addresses and supports feminist rhetorical practices that include openness authentic dialogue and deliberation interrogation of the status quo collaboration respect and progress Rhetorical feminists establish greater representation and inclusivity of everyday rhetors disidentification with traditional rhetorical practices and greater appreciation for alternative means of delivery including silence and listening These tenets are supported by a cogent reconceptualization of the traditional rhetorical appeals situating logos alongside dialogue and understanding ethos alongside experience and pathos alongside valued emotion Threaded throughout the book are discussions of the key features of rhetorical feminism that can be used to negotiate cross boundary mis understandings inform rhetorical theories advance feminist rhetorical research methods and methodologies and energize feminist practices within the university Glenn discusses the power of rhetorical feminism when applied in classrooms the specific ways it inspires and sustains mentoring and the ways it supports administrators especially directors of writing programs Thus the innovative theory of rhetorical feminism a theory rich with tactics and potentially broad applications opens up a new field of research theory and practice at the intersection of rhetoric and feminism

Writing the Classroom Stephen E. Neaderhiser, 2022-11-21 Writing the Classroom explores how faculty compose and use pedagogical documents to establish classroom expectations and teaching practices as well as to articulate the professional identities they perform both inside and outside the classroom The contributors to this unique collection employ a wide range of methodological frameworks to demonstrate how pedagogical genres even ones as seemingly straightforward as the class syllabus have lives extending well beyond the classroom as they become part of how college teachers represent their own academic identities advocate for pedagogical values and negotiate the many external forces that influence the act of teaching Writing the Classroom shines a light on genres that are often treated as two dimensional with purely functional purposes arguing instead that genres like assignment prompts course proposals teaching statements and policy documents play a fundamental role in constructing the classroom and the broader pedagogical enterprise within academia Writing the Classroom calls on experienced teachers and faculty administrators to critically consider their own engagement with pedagogical genres and offers graduate students and newer faculty insight into the genres that they may only now be learning to inhabit as they seek to establish their personal teacherly identities It showcases the rhetorical complexity of the genres written in the service of pedagogy not only for students but also for the many other audiences within academia that have a role in shaping the experience of teaching Contributors Michael Albright Lora Arduser Lesley Erin Bartlett Logan Bearden Lindsay Clark Dana Comi Zack K De Piero Matt Dowell Amy Ferdinandt Stolley Mark A Hannah Megan Knight Laura R Micciche Cindy Mooty Dustin Morris Kate Navickas Kate Nesbit Jim Nugent Lori A Ostergaard Cynthia Pengilly Jessica Rivera Mueller Christina Saidy Megan Schoen Virginia Schwarz Christopher Toth
