Lucretius on the Nature of Things Titus Lucretius Carus, 1924 On the Nature of Things Hugh Woods, 1918 Things We Could Design Ron Wakkary, 2021-08-24

How posthumanist design enables a world in which humans share center stage with nonhumans with whom we are entangled Over the past forty years designers have privileged human values such that human centered design is seen as progressive Yet because all that is not human has been depleted made extinct or put to human use today s design contributes to the existential threat of climate change and the ongoing extinctions of other species In Things We Could Design Ron Wakkary argues that human centered design is not the answer to our problems but is itself part of the problem Drawing on philosophy design theory and numerous design works he shows the way to a relational and expansive design based on humility and cohabitation Wakkary says that design can no longer ignore its exploitation of nonhuman species and the materials we mine for and reduce to human use Posthumanism he argues enables a rethinking of design that displaces the human at the center of thought and action Weaving together posthumanist philosophies with design he describes what he calls things nonhumans made by designers and calls for a commitment to design with more than human participation Wakkary also focuses on design as nomadic practices a multiplicity of intentionalities and situated knowledges that shows design to be expansive and pluralistic He calls his overall approach designing with the practice of design in a world in which humans share center stage with nonhumans and in which we are bound together materially ethically and existentially
