

Recursive Subprograms

- Recursion is the primary control mechanism for repeating sequences of statements. Recursion in the form of recursive subprogram calls, is one of the most important sequence-control structure in programming.
- Recursive subprogram is one that calls itself (directly or indirectly) repeatedly having two properties
 - It has a terminating condition or base criteria for which it doesn't call itself
 - Every time it calls itself, it brings closer to the terminating condition.
- In Recursive subprogram calls A subprogram may call any other subprogram including A itself, a subprogram B that calls A or so on.
- The only difference between a recursive call and an ordinary call is that the recursive call creates a second activation of the subprogram during the life time of the first activation.
- Both CIP and CEP are used to implement recursive subprogram

Activation Records

int fact(int n) {
  if (n > 0) return n*fact(n - 1);
  else return 1;

A procedure call creates a new activation record. Caller's record is preserved because we'll need it when callee finally returns.

Return to previous activation record when procedure finishes, permanently discarding activation record created by call we are returning from.
