Modernization Imperative:

The Modernization Imperative Bruce Charlton, Peter Andras, 2017-03-14 This book argues that contemporary society in Western democracies is generally misunderstood to be a pyramidal hierarchy dominated either by government or the economy. Neither view is correct. We live in a fundamentally pluralistic society divided into numerous modular social systems, each performing different functions. These include politics, public administration, the armed forces, law, economics, religion, education, health, and the mass media. Because each is specialized, none of these systems are dominant, and there is no overall hierarchy of power. Modernizing societies are therefore structured more like a mosaic than a pyramid. Modernization is the tendency for growth in the adaptive complexity and efficiency of the social systems. Growth in complexity is shaped by selection processes which maintain the functionality of social systems. The best examples are the market economy, science, and democratic politics. The process of modernization is both inevitable and, on the whole, desirable; this constitutes the modernization imperative. Therefore, the proper question should not be whether society should modernize, but how.

The Army Modernization Imperative Andrew Hunter, Rhys McCormick, 2017 This report characterizes the context and nature of the U.S. Army's modernization challenge and recommends ways the Army can maximize the effectiveness of its modernization budget going forward.

The Modernization Imperative and Indian Planning Baldev Raj Nayar, 1972 Interdisciplinary research study of economic policy strategy associated with the second national planning programme of India, with particular reference to the political aspects of economic planning. Covers modernization, industrialization, the political system, etc. and concludes that national political power and defence goals are major considerations in shaping development strategy. South Asia in Global Power Rivalry Imtiaz Hussain, 2019-06-07 This edited volume examines global power rivalry in and around South Asia through Bangladeshi lenses using imperfect and overlapping interest concentric circles as a template. Dynamics from three transitions: the United States exiting the Cold War, China emerging as a global level power, and India's eastern interests squaring off with China's Belt Road Initiative (BRI). Help place China, India, and the United States in alphabetical order in Bangladesh's inner-most circle; China, India, and the United States in a mid-stream circle; and the United States and Latin America among other countries in the outer-most circle, depending on the issue. In an atmosphere of short-term gains over riding long-term considerations, the desperate widespread search for infrastructural funding inside South Asia enhances China's value, raises local heat, releases new challenges with costly default consequences looming. Issue-specific analysis, overtaking formal bilateral relations, and a stubborn uncertainty riddling the Bangladeshi air as its policy preferences stubbornly show more certainty.

Analyzing the Third World Norman Provizor, 2017-11-30 This book presents essays from Comparative Politics which analyze the Third World in terms of commonly shared intra-state dynamics. It draws attention to the internal attitudinal, behavioral, and organizational problems.

and transitions which characterize Third World countries Exporting the American Model Marie-Laure Djelic,2001 Marie Laure Djelic explores the convergent and divergent trends in the evolution of business systems and organisation in Western Europe in the postwar period looking in particular at the influence of the American corporate model She focuses on France West Germany and Italy after 1945 and the influences of the Marshall Plan Her core argument is that the model had varying degrees of success in each of those three countries whilst in some areas it encountered significant resistance and adaptation

Struggle by the Pen Ondřej Klimeš,2015-01-27 In Struggle by the Pen Ondřej Klimeš explores the emergence of national consciousness and nationalist ideology of Uyghurs in Xinjiang from c 1900 1949 Drawing from texts written by modern Uyghur intellectuals politicians and propagandists throughout this period he identifies diverse types of Uyghur discourse on the nation and national interest and traces the emergence and construction of modern Uyghur national identity The author also demonstrates that the modern Uyghur intelligentsia regarded political emancipation and social modernization as the two most important interests of their nation and that they envisaged Uyghurs as citizens of a modern republican state founded on the principles of representative government This book thus presents a new perspective on Uyghur intellectual history and on Republican Xinjiang

Thinking about Development Bjorn Hettne,2013-04-04 This book is a concise and accessible introduction to development thinking contemporary development theory and practice and a critical analysis of the values that lie behind them Hettne argues that schools of development thinking should be historically contextualized not presented as evolving towards a universal theory The book will present development as an essentially contested concept that has meant a number of things at various times to different people in different places Focusing on historical discourses from the initial colonial encounters through to the modern day Hettne draws the connections between the enlightenment belief in progress through to the more recent focus on the Millennium Development Goals The first volume in the Development Matters series this book provides the key frame for the series as a whole enabling readers to locate texts on themes such as environmental justice technology and development learning within a broader historical conceptual and political context than the immediate policy and output needs of neoliberalism India, Government and Politics in a Developing Nation Robert L. Hardgrave,1975 In this clear and very readable introduction to Japanese law J Mark Ramseyer and Minoru Nakazato employ an economic approach to challenge commonly held ideas about the Japanese legal system While many studies assume that Japanese law differs fundamentally from the law in the United States this work shows the essential similarity between the two Arguing against the idea that law plays only a trivial role in Japan or is culturally determined the authors demonstrate that standard economic models go far to explain why Japanese law has the shape it does U.S. Military Forces in FY 2018 Mark F. Cancian,2017-11-20 The Department of Defense DOD faces a strategic choice whether to focus on modernization for high tech conflicts with China and Russia or expand forces and improve readiness to meet a superpower s commitments for ongoing conflicts and crisis response In their FY 2018 budgets the services all complain that they are too small for the demands being put on them and hedge toward expanding forces and readiness In the new DOD strategy being developed for 2019 and beyond the services hope to pursue all three goals expand forces improve readiness and increase modernization but the fiscal future is highly uncertain and they will likely have to make difficult trade offs India Robert L.
