Mask Of Keats:

The Mask of Keats Robert Gittings,1956 The Mask of Keats Robert Gittings,2013-10 This is a new release of the original 1956 edition The Masks of Keats Thomas McFarland,2000 McFarland refreshingly refuses to overpraise the great mass of downright bad poetry of which Keats was guilty in order to see his achievements more clearly English Studies The book is tough mindedly lucid it has a firm sense of its overall purpose and a strong conviction about its judgements and quite right too yet it still allows some nice local displays of flamboyance McFarland is very eloquent on the dreadful and dreadfully self aware brevity of Keats s life Seamus Perry This book surveys the poetic endeavour of John Keats and urges that his true poetry is uniquely constituted by being uttered through three artificial masks rather than through the natural voice of his quotidian self Keats s great achievement the book argues can only be ascertained by means of a resuscitation of the defunct critical category of genius as that informs his use of the masks The Masks of Keats thus constitutes a criticism of and rebuke to the deconstructive approach which must treat all texts as equal and must entirely forgo the conception of quality The Mask of Death Gopi Krishnan Kottoor,1996 James Merrill Langdon Hammer,2015-04-14 Langdon Hammer has given us the first biography of the poet James Merrill 1926 95 whose life is surely one of the most fascinating in American literature Merrill was born to high privilege and high expectations as the son of Charles Merrill the charismatic cofounder of the brokerage firm Merrill Lynch and Hellen Ingram a muse ally and antagonist throughout her son s life Wounded by his parents bitter divorce he was the child of a broken home looking for repair in poetry and love This is the story of a young man escaping yet also reenacting the energies and obsessions of those powerful parents It is the story of a gay man inventing his identity against the grain of American society during the eras of the closet gay liberation and AIDS Above all it is the story of a brilliantly gifted fiercely dedicated poet working every day to turn his life into art After college at Amherst and a period of adventure in Europe Merrill returned to the New York art world of the 1950s he was friendly with W H Auden Maya Deren Truman Capote Larry Rivers Elizabeth Bishop and other midcentury luminaries and began publishing poems plays and novels In 1953 he fell in love with an aspiring writer David Jackson They explored boys and bars as they made their life together in Connecticut and later in Greece and Key West At the same time improbably they carried on a forty year conversation with spirits of the Other World by means of a Ouija board The board became a source of poetic inspiration for Merrill culminating in his prizewinning uncanny one of a kind work The Changing Light at Sandover In his virtuosic poetry and in the candid letters and diaries that enrich every page of this deliciously readable life Merrill created a prismatic art of multiple perspectives and comic self knowledge expressing hope for a world threatened by nuclear war and environmental catastrophe Holding this life and art together in a complex evolving whole Hammer illuminates Merrill s chronicles of love loss and the poignant personal journey they record At the Wind's Will Louise Chandler Moulton,1900

The Poems and Sonnets of Louise Chandler Moulton ... Louise Chandler Moulton, 1908 The Mask of Keats Robert William Victor Gittings (dichter, biograaf), 1956 Portraits of Coleridge Morton D. Paley, 1999 What do the portraits of a great poet tell us about his life, his image of himself, and the ideas of him held by his friends and his public? Portraits of Coleridge attempts to answer this question with respect to the author of The Rime of the Ancient Mariner and Kubla Khan. It also provides a critical and scholarly study of the portraits as works of art, considering the place of each in the career of the artist who produced it. All the life portraits are discussed in detail, catalogued, and wherever there is an extant photograph reproduced. As many verbal descriptions by contemporaries as possible are reprinted for the sake of comparison. A concluding essay on posthumous portraits of Coleridge considers how they reflect changes in the public's attitude toward their subject. Both a contribution to the biography of Coleridge and an essay in the history of literary and artistic taste, this book is for readers interested in English poetry in Romantic portraiture and in the relationship between literature and the visual arts.

The Mask of Keats Thomas McFarland, 2000 This work surveys the poetic endeavour of Keats and urges that his true poetry is uniquely constituted by being uttered through three artificial masks rather than through the natural voice of his quotidian self. Scribner's Monthly, an Illustrated Magazine for the People, 1905 Scribner's Monthly, 1905
