The Great Redan at Sebastopol James W. Bancroft, 2023-04-06

On 18 June 1855 the 40th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo British assault troops moved out of their trenches before Sebastopol in the Crimea and attacked the formidable Russian bastion known as the Great Redan They came under such a murderous fire from the Russian defenders that the attack faltered and the British were eventually forced to fall back As they did so they left over 1 000 comrades dead and dying out in the open and at the mercy of enemy snipers The Siege of Sebastopol saw the development of trench warfare for the first time Using eyewitness accounts and unpublished letters the author tells the story of how the men coped with the terrible conditions as they prepared for the assault as well as the events during and after the fighting Among the anecdotes is an officer who had the ingenious idea of warming up cannon balls in the camp fires and taking them into the tents at night to keep warm and he went on to live for over a hundred years Well known for his depth of research the author questions a number of points regarding the Great Redan that are commonly believed to be historical fact Quoting the father of Alexander the Great it was the Russians who soon after the assault on the Great Redan first referred to the British as An army of lions led on by donkeys For over 100 years it was stated in many publications that the most Victoria Crosses awarded for a single action was the eleven presented for actions during the defense of Rorke s Drift during the Zulu War in 1879 However as the author reveals twenty of the lions who fought at the Great Redan received Britain s highest gallantry award in whole or in part for their actions on 18 June 1855 The book includes biographical tributes to many of the men who were killed in action gives details of the places where they are commemorated and provides biographies with all the

The Lord Advocates of Scotland George William Thomson Omond, 1883

VCs of the First World War: Passchendaele 1917 Stephen Snelling, 2012-02-29 Of all the costly campaigns fought across the Western Front during the First World War none strikes a more chilling chord than Passchendaele Even now more than ninety years on the very mention of the name is enough to conjure up apocalyptic images of desolation and misery on a quite bewildering scale humanity drowning in a sea of mud Passchendaele has come to serve as a symbol of the folly and futility of war chiefly remembered for its carnage and profligate waste of human lives It also stands as testament to the endurance and extraordinary courage displayed by men of all ranks and nationalities During the 3 1 2 month long struggle which claimed the lives of more than 60 000 British and Commonwealth servicemen 61 men were adjudged to have performed deeds worthy of the Empire's highest award for valour the Victoria Cross Men from Australia Canada New Zealand and South Africa were among their number alongside men from England Ireland Scotland and Wales They came from all walks of life counting humble privates and for the first time a general among their ranks This is a lasting memorial to a body of men who deserve to be numbered among the bravest of the brave
