Memory-Based Language Processing Walter Daelemans, Antal van den Bosch, 2005-09 Memory based language processing a machine learning and problem solving method for language technology is based on the idea that the direct re use of examples using analogical reasoning is more suited for solving language processing problems than the application of rules extracted from those examples This book discusses the theory and practice of memory based language processing showing its comparative strengths over alternative methods of language modelling Language is complex with few generalizations many sub regularities and exceptions and the advantage of memory based language processing is that it does not abstract away from this valuable low frequency information

Principles and Prediction Mushira Eid, Gregory K. Iverson, 1993-03-25 The volume is divided into four sections typology syntax discourse and phonology Two of the typology papers study the structure and organization of category systems Joseph Greenberg Linda Schwartz the third discusses language typology and universals from the perspective of language acquisition Fred Eckman The eight papers in the syntax section are of three types Edith Moravcsik and James Tai discuss general issues of linguistic theory domain Four papers Mushira Eid Michael Kac Nancy Hedberg Larry Hutchinson address specific analyses and their implications from language particular and theoretical perspectives The papers by Deborah Dahl and Thomas Rindflesch relate theoretical concepts and analyses to natural language processing In the section on discourse the contributions by Anita Barry and Amy Sheldon deal with interpersonal conflict George Yule discusses the selection between direct and indirect speech forms Helga Delisle and Cynthia Clamons consider ways in which choices among or variation in some grammatical and semantic categories may be explainable on pragmatic and discourse grounds The phonology papers are focused on two major themes underspecification and borrowing Four of the articles address the issue of underspecification in phonological representations Daniel Dinnsen Joseph Stemberger Janet Bing Gregory Iverson In the other two papers questions of borrowing are discussed in Nancy Stenson s contribution from a synchronic perspective and in Gunter Schaarsmidt s paper from a historical one The volume is completed by a subject index and a language index

The Oxford

Handbook of Computational Linguistics Ruslan Mitkov, 2022-05-23 Ruslan Mitkov's highly successful Oxford Handbook of Computational Linguistics has been substantially revised and expanded in this second edition. Alongside updated accounts of the topics covered in the first edition, it includes 17 new chapters on subjects such as semantic role labelling, text-to-speech synthesis, translation technology, opinion mining, and sentiment analysis, and the application of Natural Language Processing in educational and biomedical contexts among many others. The volume is divided into four parts that examine respectively the linguistic fundamentals of computational linguistics, the methods and resources used such as statistical modelling, machine learning, and corpus annotation, key language processing tasks including text segmentation, anaphora resolution, and speech recognition, and the major applications of Natural Language Processing from machine translation to author profiling. The book will be an essential reference for researchers and students in computational linguistics and Natural Language Processing, as well as those working in related industries.
