Poetry Signs And Magic:

Poetry, Signs, and Magic Thomas M. Greene, 2005 Poetry Signs and Magic brings together in a single volume fourteen new and previously published essays by the eminent Renaissance scholar and literary critic Thomas M. Greene. This collection looks back toward two earlier volumes by Greene: his first essay collection The Vulnerable Text: Essays on Renaissance Literature and Poesie et Magie whose theme is here explored again at greater length and depth from linguistic and literary critical perspectives. Greene argues that certain poetic gestures draw their peculiar strengths by serving as vestiges of poetry's ancestral acts: magic, prayer, and invocation. Poetry, in other words, feigns an earlier power, but in this diminishment there occurs a verbal subtlety and figural poignancy commonly associated with art's aesthetic pleasures. Greene employs his well-known skills as a close reader to texts by a range of writers, including a variety of contemporary theorists in diverse contexts: the distinction between disjunctive and conjunctive linguistics; dual theories of sound and meaning of crucial importance to Plato and Aristotle; Catholic and Protestant debates on the sacraments; to the more recent skeptical methodologies of Derrida and de Man. Thomas M. Greene was a Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Yale University. Magic and the Occult in Contemporary Poetry Daniel John Pilkington, 2026-01-01 Magic and the Occult in Contemporary Poetry investigates the relationship between poetry and magic in the context of contemporary poetics. It traces the history of magical poetics and the poetry of the occult to the present in order to ask in the context of contemporary US poetry what potential there is for a magical poetics or a poetics of the occult today. The book argues that a magical or occult poetics offers a vital counterpoint to more mainstream poetic trends. It defines a magical or occult poetics in terms of the willingness of a poet to entertain a magical worldview for the purposes of writing poetry or the willingness to experiment with creative techniques and processes derived from magical or occult practices. It explores the allure of the poet as magician, the conceptualization of language as inherently magical, and the implications of adopting a magical perspective in poetic creation. It also delves into the specific creative techniques and processes central to magical and occult poetics, including the use of spellcraft, trance, divination, and ritual in the composition of poetry. Magic, Rhetoric, and Literacy William A. Covino, 1994-07-28 This book presents a selective introductory reading of key texts in the history of magic from antiquity forward in order to construct a suggestive conceptual framework for disrupting our conventional notions about rhetoric and literacy. Offering an overarching, pointed synthesis of the interpenetration of magic, rhetoric, and literacy, William A. Covino draws from theorists ranging from Plato and Cornelius Agrippa to Paulo Freire and Mary Daly and analyzes the different magics that operate in Renaissance occult philosophy and Romantic literature, as well as in popular indicators of mass literacy such as The Oprah Winfrey Show and The National Enquirer. Magic, Rhetoric, and Literacy distinguishes two kinds of magic rhetoric that continue to affect our psychological and cultural life today: generative magic rhetoric creates novel possibilities for action within a broad sympathetic universe of signs and symbols; arresting magic rhetoric attempts to induce automatic behavior by inculcating rules and maxims that function like magic ritual formulas JUST SAY NO In this connection the literate individual is one who can interrogate arresting language and generate counter spells
