

The background of the entire image is a detailed technical drawing of a complex mechanical gear system. It features multiple interlocking gears of various sizes, some with teeth and others with smooth rims. The drawing is rendered in a light blue and white color scheme, with fine lines indicating the mechanical components and their assembly. The gears are arranged in a way that suggests a complex transmission or clockwork mechanism. The overall style is that of a technical or engineering drawing, with a focus on precision and detail.
