European Security in a Global Context Thierry Tardy, 2008-12-10 This new edited volume examines contemporary European security from three different standpoints It explores security dynamics first within Europe second the interaction patterns between Europe and other parts of the world the United States Africa the Middle East China and India and finally the external perceptions of European security The first part of the book analyses the European security landscape The roles of EU NATO and the OSCE are given particular attention as is the impact of their evolution or enlargement on the European security architecture and European security dynamics In this context Russia's repositioning as a major power appears as a shaping factor of contemporary European geopolitics The second part presents European security from an external perspective and considers interactions between Europe and other states or regions Security trends and actors in Europe are examined from an American Chinese and Indian perspective while Europe Africa and Europe Middle East relations are also addressed This book will be of great interest to students of European Security European politics and IR in general

Security in 21st Century Europe Andrew Cottey, 2012-11-19 Fully revised and updated the second edition of this leading textbook provides a systematic assessment of security in contemporary Europe The book examines the changing character of security and assesses the extent of the threats posed by different challenges as well as the policy dilemmas involved in responding to these concerns The nature of security in Europe has been transformed in recent years Andrew Cottey argues that this is a result of two key developments the emergence of a security community a zone of peace where war is inconceivable across much of Europe and the presence of new security threats such as terrorism and energy dependence Set in the context of the rising power of non Western states and the continuing fallout from the global economic crisis this text provides a comprehensive analysis of Europe's new security challenges Europe's traditional problem of war between states is being displaced by a new and equally daunting set of security challenges While major war within Europe remains unlikely the 2008 Georgia war and the 2011 Libya war were reminders that violent conflicts are still prevalent on Europe's periphery and can pose major challenges for European governments NATO and the EU At the same time terrorism nuclear proliferation as well as non military problems like mass migration and climate change threaten Europe's security This text is the perfect companion for advanced undergraduate and Master's level courses on European security whether within courses in Security studies European studies or International Relations New to this Edition New framework for analysing European security Highly topical issues covered including Arab Spring rise of BRIC countries terrorism and European energy dependence

A Human Security Doctrine for Europe Marlies Glasius, Mary Kaldor, 2006-01-16 A Human Security Doctrine for Europe explores the actual needs of individual people in conflict areas rather than using a conventional institutional or geo political perspectives This new volume proposes that Europe should develop a new kind of human security capability that involves the military the police and civilians all working together to enforce law rather than to fight wars It argues that threats such as weapons of mass destruction or terrorism can only be countered if we address the insecurity of people in all parts of the world Many people in the world lead intolerably insecure lives In large parts of Africa the Balkans Central Asia and the Middle East men and women live in daily fear of violent attacks kidnapping rape extortion robbery or trafficking The existence of large military apparatuses does not create security indeed as in Iraq the use of regular military forces may only make things worse This stimulating study includes two chapters setting out the changed global context and proposing new approaches to security five regional studies on the Balkans the Great Lakes Region the Middle East the South Caucasus and West Africa four studies on different aspects of EU security policy including the legal setting the role of women operational principles and the role of the new member states four operational studies on capabilities resources and institutional embedding Written by a diverse team of international experts this book will be of strong interest to students and researchers of security studies peace studies human rights and international relations

Europe's Hope Alliances J-G Matuszek, 2025-05-16 The advance in international cooperation consists of a credible willingness to act effectively Credibility comes from concrete actionable steps that show that a country or organization is actually willing to take responsibility and help solve common problems It is not enough to make declarations of intent the international community expects commitments to be translated into action Whether it is peacekeeping climate protection or the fight against poverty action must be effective and sustainable Otherwise the credibility of a country or institution in cooperation is quickly undermined

European Conflicts and International Institutions Hans-Georg Ehrhart, Oliver Thränert, 1998 Small States and Security in Europe Tomás Weiss, Geoffrey Edwards, 2021-12-29 This book studies how domestic contestation influences the security policy of small states within the European Union and NATO A multinational group of expert contributors consider how domestic contestation is translated into small states foreign policies how membership of international organisations alters attitudes to security policy in small states and how patterns of small states behaviour across domestic traditions security cultures and geographical location can be identified Anchored in new institutionalism the book explores the influence of international organisations on security policies and the tensions created by connecting four strands of literature on Europeanisation on the impact of and on institutions on the way foreign and security policy is made and the security strategic culture of small states It will be of interest to all scholars and students of international relations security studies EU studies area studies and politics Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, 1925
