With Kathleen Stassen Berger's always contemporary always compelling textbook students learn to see how the basic ideas of developmental psychology apply to their own lives the lives of those around them and the lives of others of all life stages and in cultures all around the world Berger's narrative voice wide ranging cultural perspective and focus on universal themes captivate students from the outset helping them grasp the important theoretical and scientific work driving the field of developmental psychology today Developmental Dynamics in Humans and Other Primates Jos Verhulst, 2003

Belgian scientist Jos Verhulst presents the most thorough research to date elaborating an evolutionary theory first set forth by Dutch anatomist Louis Bolk in the early twentieth century This theory is based on the proposition that dynamic principles inherent in the development of individual organisms are also at work in animal evolution as a whole A chimpanzee fetus for example is strikingly similar to its human counterpart its cranium is rounded its face flat and its hair is restricted to its head As it develops however the chimp diverges from its original humanlike form assuming specialized apelike features In this detailed comparative study of numerous organs Verhulst shows that unlike the other primates humans retain their original juvenile form Standing Darwin on his head he concludes that humans did not descend from apes rather apes evolved by diverging from a humanlike prototype He also shows that our human tendency to retain our fetal form fetalization or retardation is complemented by further development hypermorphosis of such organs as the legs heels forebrain and larynx through which we attain our eminently human capacities of upright posture thinking and speech In the last chapter Verhulst sketches a broad view of how retardation and hypermorphosis have worked together in animal evolution He speculates for example that vertebrates evolved from invertebrates when ancient sea squirts a form of tunicate a marine invertebrate retained their larval characteristics and developed them further as they evolved into fish Sea squirt larvae are free swimming and resemble tadpoles Their brain includes a light sensitive eyespot and they have a rudimentary spinal cord In their adult stage however they are sessile filter feeders with neither nerve cord nor eyes Verhulst postulates that primitive tunicates such as the sea squirt retained their larval characteristics through retardation and evolved through hypermorphosis into fish the first vertebrates Following in a tradition as old as Darwinism he proposes that from the very beginning of animal evolution these dynamics have led progressively toward the emergence of the human form In this view the gradually emerging human prototype is seen as the driving force and central trunk of the evolutionary tree as the wellspring from which the animal world has sprung
