Monitoring and Investigating Death in Custody , Search for justice The death of FT as a result of the torture he endured at the hands of police officers could not be questioned there had been a witness FT s wife the Mozambican League itself saw Page 9 UKWELI Monitoring and Documenting Human Rights Violations in Africa the state the man was in the police cell and the Head of the Criminal Investigation Unit itself has acknowledged wrong doi As highlighted in the case above death in custody is unfortunately a common state of affairs in many prisons throughout the world hence the importance of thorough monitoring to assess the extent of the violations and to identify the likely set of events that triggers and characterises such deaths The force used should be proportional to the objectives it should be used only to the extent required for the performance of law enforcement officials duty The Commentary acknowledges the principle of proportionality laid down in national laws and says that the Code should not be taken to authorise the use of force which is disproportionate to the legitimate objective to be achieved There shall be duly recorded a The reasons for the arrest b The time of the arrest and the taking of the arrested person to a place of custody as well as that of his first appearance before a judicial or other authority c The identity of the law enforcement officials concerned d Precise information concerning the place of custody The imposition of restrictions upon such a person which are not strictly required for the purpose of the detention or to prevent hindrance to the process of investigation or the administration of justice or for the maintenance of security and good order in the place of detention shall be forbidden

Monitoring and Investigating Death in Custody Agnès Callamard,2000 The monitoring and Documenting of human rights abuses is a relatively recent area of work the nature and implications of human rights law are in flux and there is greater consideration for human rights dimensions in armed conflicts The human rights agencies are consequently repositioning themselves redefining their roles and adapting their practices This study provides an overview of the sorts of abuses political killings torture excessive use of force death in custody sexual violence occurring in armed conflicts and makes suggestions about how to investigate and verify information for each violation It includes extracts from international and regional human rights law and international humanitarian law intended as a working basis for organisations investigating Documenting and acting upon abuses

Death in State Custody E.C.M. Thoonen,2017-10-30 What is expected of State authorities with regard to the obligation to safeguard the life of detainees What obligations do State authorities have in relation to the investigation into deaths that occur during deprivation of liberty by the State This book addresses these questions regarding death in State custody in view of the European Convention on Human Rights in particular the right to life the prohibition of torture and the right to respect for private life including the right to self determination It also provides an analysis of whether the Dutch legal framework contains safeguards to meet the requirements that follow from the European Convention on Human Rights Matters that are discussed in detail are the obligation to provide healthcare to detainees and to take protective measures to safeguard the life of detainees The ethical issues regarding end of life decisions of detainees like refusal of medical treatment hunger and or thirst strike suicide and euthanasia and the conflicts that may arise in this regard considering the obligations of State authorities are addressed This book is a must have for all those who are involved in the medical treatment of detainees and who are confronted with death in State custody
