Contemporary Architecture and the Digital Design Process Peter Szalapaj, 2014-04-23 Contemporary Architecture and the Digital Design Process introduces the reader to new developments in the computer modelling of design form in contemporary architectural practice through a series of detailed case studies The book illustrates how evolving design practices use and exploit the potential of new computing technologies in a wide range of areas and application A central thesis of this book is that technology follows design demand rather than design adjusting to available new technology Designers are not merely passive recipients of prescribed computing tools and techniques. Instead, they are increasingly able to express their intuitive design ideas through the rational medium of computing. The book features several contemporary building projects, each of which introduces a range of CAD and computing issues based upon the work of creative architectural and engineering design practices. These include the offices of Frank O Gehry, Peter Cook and Colin Fournier, Anthony Hunt Associates, Peter Hubner, Szyskowitz, Kowalski and Faulkner Brown. All these examples show what architects need to know and the skills they need to acquire to use advanced CAD technology. Journal of the American Institute of Architects, American Institute of Architects, 1916

Originally published in 1988, reissued now with a new series introduction. Environmental Perspectives was the first in a trilogy of books to open the series Ethnoscapes: Current Challenges in the Environmental Social Sciences. These three titles brought together specially commissioned contributions that cover much of the range of topics that the series as a whole would cover. Although the following volumes would not have the same format, the opening trilogy gave an overview of what was to come while also providing a broad base for the future authors to build upon. The first of these volumes focuses essentially on theory. It brings together papers covering our growing understanding of the ways in which human actions are integrated within our knowledge of the places in which those actions occur. The contributors also explore the social, historical antecedents that give meaning to our everyday surroundings, as well as the psychological underpinnings to aesthetic experience. Architecture, 2005 Architecture, Ritual Practice and Co-determination in the Swedish Office Dennis Doxtater, 2024-11-07. Originally published in 1994 as part of the Ethnoscapes: Current Challenges in the Environmental Social Sciences series, reissued now with a new series introduction. Architecture, Ritual Practice and Co-determination in the Swedish Office is a case study of Swedish office buildings and examines how they have been influenced by spatial aspects of traditional culture in Scandinavia. It suggests a theoretical framework for architecture by casting the ritual form of Swedish offices into three distinct modes of expression. The Building News and Engineering Journal, 1925 The Phenomenon of Architecture in Cultures in Change David Oakley, 2014-05-09. The Phenomenon of Architecture in Cultures in Change focuses on the study of architectural design and its impact in the developing world. The book first elaborates on architectural function and problems and building problems.
