Problemski Hotel Dimitri Verhulst, 2005 A story like a punch to the midriff Problemski Hotel Dimitri Verhulst, 2006 The Problemski Hotel Koushyar Parsi, 2018-03-27 Unfortunately this is not only the destiny of Maqsood the imaginary character of the novel but also the destiny of many people with flesh and blood Dimitri Verhulst spent a few days in a refugee camp in Belgium to write a report on asylum seekers in 2001 at the request of a literary journal The Problemski Hotel is an imaginary story based real events It is a collection of events depicting how life deteriorates when a cigarette box is the most valuable capital and when visiting a church is to kill the time Bipul Masli is the unfortunate narrator from Ethiopia a former photographer who fled his country after a riot Longing for a better life he ends up in a refugee camp in Belgium where Dimitri Verhulst lives The author describes vividly the fortunate and less fortunate moments of people who are ordained to the same destiny Despite the book's painful subject Verhulst's depiction is filled with satire and comic scenes although this satire may not often be cheerful but it is touching Dimitri Verhulst allows the moments to anchor in his soul enabling him to pen his observations on paper Not having lived in a cave for years without any access to media one will certainly know that Verhulst is not an unfamiliar name in the world literature The reader will immediately see Verhulst's virtuosity at reading this book Once Aristotle said The whole is greater than the sum of its parts and one can see this in Verhulst's book The Problemski Hotel consists of 23 sections each about 4 pages Although one can read each part independently the book runs coherently from the beginning to the end bringing the reader closer to the author and the narrator In the shortest possible way Verhulst says much about a terrible life in asylum Cosmopolitan Aspirations in Contemporary Cinema María del Mar Azcona, Julia Echeverría, Pablo Gómez-Muñoz, 2024-12-16 This book presents cosmopolitanism as a useful methodological approach to understand the transnational synergies present in contemporary cinema In line with existing literature from the social sciences the volume aims to contribute to the cosmopolitan turn in cinema studies It considers cosmopolitanism as among others a personal and social aspiration of social justice world citizenship and celebration of difference a notion to be criticised as elitist Western often imperialist and homogenising and an actually existing social practice characterised by contradiction messiness and conflict The chapters in this volume offer insights into the variety of sometimes contradictory discourses that arise from a cosmopolitan interpretation of a wide variety of film texts Key topics explored in this book include borders im mobilities migration race class and film aesthetics This book will be particularly useful to film studies scholars and students looking at transnational global world and decolonial cinemas and focusing on topics like borders migration and multiculturalism in film This book will also appeal to academic communities studying media literature mobilities geopolitics sociology and the social sciences in general From Will to Well Stefaan Slembrouck, Miriam Taverniers, Mieke van Herreweghe, 2009 The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema Temenuga Trifonova, 2020-07-09 The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema explores contemporary debates around the concepts of Europe and European identity through an examination of recent European films dealing with various aspects of globalization the refugee crisis labour migration the resurgence of nationalism and ethnic violence neoliberalism post colonialism with a particular attention to the figure of the migrant and the ways in which this figure challenges us to rethink Europe and its core Enlightenment values citizenship justice ethics liberty tolerance and hospitality in a post national context of ephemerality volatility and contingency that finds people desperately looking for firmer markers of identity The book argues that a compelling case can be made for re orienting the study of contemporary European cinema around the figure of the migrant viewed both as a symbolic figure representing post national citizenship urbanization the gap between ethics and justice and as a figure occupying an increasingly central place in European cinema in general rather than only in what is usually called migrant and diasporic cinema By drawing attention to the structural and affective affinities between the experience of migrants and non migrants Europeans and non Europeans Trifonova shows that it is becoming increasingly difficult to separate stories about migration from stories about life under neoliberalism in general
