

Trying to make a compromise map of the Traditional Norwegian dialect groups v. 1.0

Based on many sources, showing commonly used groupings and including the dialects in Sweden often (but not necessarily always) counted as Norwegian.

Shows dialect groups down to a tertiary level, though more detailed groupings are commonly used. For example, the Fosen dialects being split into 3-4 groups.

This division is based on splitting Norwegian in 4. Some split it into 2, with "Eastlandic" and Trøndermål forming East Norwegian and Northern Norwegian and "Westlandic" forming Western Norwegian.

Marked borders try to follow the most used paths, as the grouping of bordering dialects or which isogloss to define them by might be debated. Different linguists often use different isoglosses to divide dialect groups. Areas grouped differently by different linguists are striped.

-  Border of primary dialect groups.
-  Border of secondary dialect groups.
-  Border of Norway.
-  Dialect in Sweden.
-  Uncertain border or status of dialect.
